The Honorable Allen W. Dulles
Director, Central Intelligence Agency
2430 E Street, N. W.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Allen:

It was a joy to get even the glimpse of you the other afternoon at the Century Club. I had dropped in there for a quick drink with Walter Rothchild between two meetings and, unfortunately, the latter one was directly in conflict with the occasion where you and Governor Dewey spoke.

I have not heard from Dick Rubottom, and it may be that the thing which he mentioned to me has bogged down somewhere and should remain so. I do not wish by this letter to ask that you do anything - except possibly you might give me an indication as to whether I should communicate with [REDACTED] STATINTL. Actually I don't have a very strong inclination about the thing one way or another, and I don't want it to be the source of any bother at all to you.

Sincerely,

/s/ Dillon
